happy vacations begin in a Chevy

You'll love to travel in it, because it loves to travel! When you get this Chevrolet out on the road, you'll want to keep going—and so will the whole family.

America's largest selling car—2 million in 1955. Cheaper than any other make.

Of course, even in a Chevrolet the happiest vacations may involve one or two minor problems. Like fidgety small fry who want gallons of water and keep asking if you're almost there. The big things, though, are beautifully taken care of by this roomy Chevrolet's smooth and easy way of going. That's for sure.

The fact is, few cars at any price hold the road with Chevy's grace, with its solid feeling of stability. And with horsepower up to 235, Chevrolet moves out like a whiplash, for safer passing. It's no wonder that so many people who used to buy higher priced cars are changing to Chevrolet! Stop by soon for a ride.

ACROSS the DESK

From the Italy News Herald, "The Italian farmer is now being forced to produce more and more on the real cause of the farm price problem is a surplus of commodities. We have been having increasing discussions . . . about the depressing effect of the surplus on prices and considerable attention is being paid to ways and means of reducing the stockpile."

Agriculture has become big business in the United States and the bigger it becomes the greater the problem. Farmers are learning to produce more with less work and the mass production of the world's greatest industrial nation is making itself felt in agriculture. Unfortunately, agricultural leaders have not yet been able to harness the technique of industrial mass production—mass sales. Part of this failure can be attributed to the demand that artificial price levels be maintained. Part is due to lack of effort to encourage increased consumption as a counterpart of increasing production. The thing that makes automobiles, washing machines, radios and televisions sell within the reach of millions is mass production.

Then plus mass demand. Manufacturers of these products spend millions of dollars annually to induce the public to buy their products. Most of them set aside a definite percentage of their sales for advertising. They do not leave it up to the retailer to sell their product.

Some agricultural producers are beginning to use the same tactics and they all report results. Most notable are the dairymen and cattlemen. They are extending the merits of their products as a part of the daily diet and are selling more. The cotton industry, on a lesser scale, has been doing somewhat the same thing with their cotton cello.

Economic Highlights . . . . .

Happenings That Affect the Future of Every Individual — National and International Problems Inseparable from Local Welfare. Some time ago Massimo Salvadori, Professor of History at Smith College and a member of the Foreign Service Institute at Washington, D. C., lectured before the American Economic Association in New York City. He dealt largely with European economic systems and compared them with the American system.

He pointed out that the American system is a free enterprise system. It is based on the principle that the individual has the right to own property and to dispose of it as he sees fit. This is the basis of the American system. It is the basis of the American way of life.

THE BELL IS RINGING

It is encouraging to be able to report that widespread feeling of uneasiness about our confederate federal income tax is growing and growing to official circles as well as among the millions of other people who must do the paying.

A recent study by the Internal Revenue Service has shown that the average family of four pays more in federal income taxes than it did in 1954. This is a significant increase and it is one that should be of concern to all taxpayers.

The study also showed that the average family of four pays more in state and local taxes than it did in 1954. This is another significant increase and it is one that should be of concern to all taxpayers.

The study also showed that the average family of four pays more in total taxes than it did in 1954. This is a significant increase and it is one that should be of concern to all taxpayers.

OUR CRAZY-QUILT INCOME TAX LAW

IN ENGLAND WITH MISS LAURA WILSON

It was the grandest reception that I have ever been to, even more "poth" than the ones last fall. Ambassador Aldrich and wife received us after a buffet luncheon. We were seated at a table with the names of the guests. We were seated at a table with the names of the guests.

After carrying on an animated conversation with Ellis and after seeing a few interesting Fulbrights with their various tutors, a polite hostess led us to the room where the Duke of Edinburgh was staying. The Duke of Edinburgh was staying in the room.

He made other important points. One is that the European "free enterprise" has meant the freedom to export. A better term for our system is "free enterprise." The Duke of Edinburgh was staying in the room.

These are examples of facts that in Dr. Salvadori's view need to be made better known abroad. There has been a feeling of "inability of Americans to explain the United States." That should be the main job of American business and labor leaders.

Fulbrights have changed so much this year. They are so much more interesting to talk to now. I had so much fun.

Saturday I went to St. Albans to see the Roman ruins. Talking about my four weeks before coming home. There are so many things I want to see, and do, I shan't possibly do everything. I want to dig awhile with my tutor too. You know, for Roman ruins, not for worms.

May 28th—One more week of grace before finals. Last fall I was told that panic would descend in the third term. Well, it hasn't. I think that there is something wrong with a system which places the whole atmosphere of tension within the last few weeks of the last year. Of course, there are tutorials, papers, and a few exams before that; however, at the end of the year the student is examined thoroughly over everything that he has done (and hasn't done—therefore the panic).

The type of degree awarded is a study aid. The pressure is terrible because the standard that you are expected to reach is very high. You can't get him personally for I wanted to ask him how his wife and children are. Mr. Ellis then took Ralph and me to a very expensive dinner. I was urged to eat everything that I couldn't possibly find at Mary's. That was quite a big order as we had potatoes at least twice a day. I had a cold glass of milk. I don't realize what a blessing refrigeration is in the new world—very tired and a little pale. How chicken, peas, French fries (chips), fruit and ice cream. It was lovely. We had a ball from 9:30 to 2:00. For instance, tonight we discussed "Wine, Women, and Song" and fun talking! Believe it or not! The weather or not it was ethical to

TODAY'S Meditation

Thursday, July 12
Read Isaiah 12:1-6 or Acts 4:13-17.
Blessed God, in Thy salvation, I will trust, and not be afraid. (Isaiah 12:1)

FEAR and superstition caused Indians of Southeast Venezuela to believe that their gods lived on top of a certain mountain. During thunderstorms, lightning would strike this mountain. Later, engineers discovered that where the Indian gods were supposed to live was a mountain of iron ore. Today, steel companies have large mining operations at this mountain. The Indians have had to transfer their gods to another place.

Fear and superstition can cause us to look just as unreasonably upon what we cannot understand as the Venezuelan Indians looked upon that mountain. However, as Christians we can be spared such fears and doubts and superstitions, for we place our trust in God who revealed Himself in Jesus Christ. He is gracious. It is He who can give us the courage and strength we need in order to erase the fears of things we do not understand.

Prayer
"Dear God, we thank Thee that we can be spared foolish fears and superstitions as we place our trust in Thee. Use us, our Father, to show others Thy love that they, too, may not fear those things they do not understand. We ask this in the name of Jesus, Amen."
Thought For The Day
"As we realize the presence of the Lord, fear gives place to faith." Ruth Ann Burke (Venezuela)
